

FOR THE LOVE OF OTTERBEIN
THE TIME IS NOW.

COVID-19 has turned life upside down.

- Our students and families are navigating challenging and sometimes painful financial hardships.
- Our faculty is working with tireless commitment to adapt their teaching and classes to every possible scenario while keeping learning and discovery meaningful.
- Our staff is working with great care to ensure safe options for keeping our community together.

Our entire Otterbein campus community is motivated by one thing — helping our students succeed.

These are challenging times and the realities of this pandemic are difficult enough. Our students' education and their dreams shouldn't have to be derailed, too.

The key to each chapter of Otterbein's history is that we come together to serve our students.

We believe in protecting opportunity and we know investing in all students isn't only the smart thing to do — it's the right thing to do.

If ever there were a time to support the most vulnerable, the most promising, the best, the brightest and those most deserving of an Otterbein education — the time is now.

If ever there were a time to help with unexpected, unprecedented costs like outdoor-tented classrooms, COVID-19 testing, extreme cleaning regimens, increased technology demands — the time is now.

If ever there were a time to invest in the future of an institution that has always worked to innovate and anticipate the needs of tomorrow — the time is now.

Thank you for helping us navigate this important chapter in our history.

“If ever there were a time to support the University you love, the time is now.”

PRESIDENT JOHN COMERFORD, Ph.D.

You can help them have a brighter tomorrow.

Today everything looks different for our students.
