

COSTS ASSOCIATED WITH THE ATP PROGRAM

Students are responsible for the following additional expenses:

- 1) Professional dress: Students are given program shirts annually and a jacket at the end of their sophomore year. Additional shirts may be purchased through the on-line store. Students should have appropriate clothing to withstand all types of weather conditions. Typically, the on-campus clinical rotation attire coincides with the coaching staff. Please consult your preceptor for dress expectations for each clinical rotation.
- 2) Transportation costs: Students will be assigned clinical rotation experiences throughout the greater Columbus area (High schools, clinics, hospitals, universities, etc.). Costs involved with travel to these experiences are the responsibility of the student.
- 3) Immunizations: Students are strongly encouraged to receive the Hepatitis B vaccination and annual flu shot. These are available through the health center. It is essential that students have the University required immunizations upon admission into the ATP. All costs to bring these immunizations up to date are the responsibility of each student.
- 4) Background checks: For the off-campus clinical rotations, background checks may be required. These costs are the responsibility of each student.
- 5) Course Fees: Several courses have related fees attached to them to help cover the cost of instruction and preparation for the BOC examination. Below is a breakdown of those costs:
